Instructions

Purpose of Form TP-584.6-NYC

This form must be completed and attached to Form TP-584-NYC, Combined Real Estate Transfer Tax Return, Credit Line Mortgage Certificate, and Certification of Exemption from the Payment of Estimated Personal Income Tax for the Conveyance of Real Property Located in New York City, for the conveyance of multiple real properties, some or all of which are located in New York City. This would include the conveyance from one grantor to one grantee of multiple residential and commercial properties, such as condominium units, cooperative units, and conveyances that result in an acquisition and transfers of a controlling interest.

The term residential real property means any premises that is or may be used in whole or in part as a personal residence and includes a one-, two-, or three-family house, an individual condominium unit, or a cooperative apartment unit.

Specific instructions

Schedule A

Use Schedule A to calculate the additional base tax on the conveyance of residential real property.

Column A

List separately the address of each property being conveyed. If the conveyance includes multiple units in the same building, list the address only once and, on subsequent lines, only include the unit number.

Column B

List the portion of the consideration from Form TP-584-NYC that is allocated to each real property interest being conveyed. For a property that is only used partially as a residence do not allocate the consideration to the percentage of the residential use.

Column C

If the consideration listed in column B is for a residential real property and is $3 million or more, compute the additional base tax. Divide the consideration shown in column B by $500. If the consideration shown in column B is less than a fractional part of $500, round the amount up to the nearest $500 before multiplying by $1.25.

Example 1:

Consideration shown in Column B: $3,650,250
Round up to nearest $500: $3,650,500
Divide by $500: 7,301
Multiply by $1.25 to compute tax due: $9126.25

Example 2:

A building consisting of a store on the first floor and two apartments on the second floor is sold for $2,250,000. Since the property is used in whole or in part as a residence, for purposes of the additional base only, no additional base tax is due since the consideration is less than $3 million.

Add the column C amounts and enter the result on this form and on Form TP-584-NYC, Part 1, line 5a.

Column D

If the consideration listed in column B is for real property other than residential real property and the consideration is $2 million or more, compute the additional base tax. Divide the consideration shown in column B by $500. If the consideration shown in column B is less than a fractional part of $500, round the amount up to the nearest $500 before multiplying by $1.25.

Schedule B

Use Schedule B to calculate the additional tax due on the conveyance of residential real property. If the allocated portion of the consideration is $1 million or more, additional tax is due on the conveyance.

Column A

List separately the address of each property being conveyed. If the conveyance includes multiple units in the same building, list the address only once and, on subsequent lines, only include the unit number.

Column B

List the portion of the consideration from Form TP-584-NYC that is allocated to each real property interest being conveyed. If the allocated portion of the consideration is less than $1 million, no additional tax due issue on the conveyance of the particular unit or property.

Column C

List the distinct percentage that each property is used for residential purposes. If the property is used entirely as a personal residence, enter 100%.

Schedule C

Use Schedule C to calculate the supplemental tax due on the conveyance of residential real property. If the allocated portion of the consideration is $2 million or more, supplemental tax is due on the conveyance.

Column A

List separately the address of each property being conveyed. If the conveyance includes multiple units in the same building, list the address only once and on subsequent lines only include the unit number.

Column B

List the portion of the consideration from Form TP-584-NYC that is allocated to each real property interest being conveyed. If the allocated portion of the consideration is less than $2 million, no supplemental tax is due on the conveyance of the particular unit or property.

Column C

List the distinct percentage that each property is used for residential purposes. If the property is used entirely as a personal residence, enter 100%.

Column E

Multiply the amount in column D by a specific tax rate based on the allocated portion of the consideration listed in column B. This is the supplement tax due on the conveyance of the unit or property. If column B is less than $2 million, enter 0 for the tax due on that property.
